

Will The Real KovsieTV Please Stand Up?

Editorial

Fake accounts, new faces, protests and so much more madness was endured by the fresh cast and crew of The Real KovsieTV. IRAWA Post had a sit-down interview with Channel Manager, Tumelo Moekoa about the challenges and blessings that have come with taking over KovsieTV.

As one of the three original members of the KovsieTV that have remained, Moekoa had much work to do in managing and developing the brand. He also gives praise to the previous management of the programme. "We're simply continuing where the pioneers left off. The only difference is that ours is not the task of building the foundation, but rather, of building on it and those who come after us shall build on and maintain the legacy we leave behind. I can speak on behalf of everyone who currently works at KovsieTV that we truly appreciate the previous administration and the work they've done," says Moekoa. Becoming a Channel Manager also came with its fair hurdles when a second KovsieTV Facebook account caused a stir on social media. "Our biggest hurdle is the fake KovsieTV page created by someone none of us know. I've reached out to the person via inbox but they've blatantly shown that their aim was to tarnish our brand. This person wishes us no good or prosperity. I fail to understand how this helps them but it seems to be important to them to be inauthentic. My only plea is to the Student Community to discern between the fake, political and propaganda page and support our page, as this is where you'll be able to view all the work we're doing," he added.

KovsieTV videos are currently available on Facebook under “The Real KovsieTV” until their anniversary activation. “KovsieTV is for the students by the students. “Invite us at your events. This is YOUR platform. Join us in making Kovies the place to be!” says Moekoa.
