

BIOGRAPHY – KOPANO MOLELEKI

Kopano Moleleki is a research intern at the Free State Centre for Human Rights working on the Raith Foundation's Poverty and Accountability Research Project (PAP), which concerns amplifying the accountability of the local government to provide basic services in the Free State. He is an LLB graduate from the University of the Free State and is currently a Master of Human Rights candidate. He is interested in human rights research and hopes to do well in producing quality research for the aforesaid project.