BIOGRAPHY – UNAM MAJOKWENI

Unam Majokweni is a passionate young woman pursuing a career in Criminology and is currently enrolled in a Bachelor of Social Sciences at the University of the Free State. Her academic journey is driven by a strong interest in understanding society, human behaviour, justice, and the factors that shape our communities. Her leadership journey began in 2023 at Montarena High School through involvement in various Peer Tutoring programmes. These experiences provided Unam with an early foundation in leadership, communication, and working with others.

In 2025, she continued to develop her leadership skills at the University of the Free State through involvement in residence subcommittees in Kestell Residence, as well as serving as an English Peer Tutor and Class Representative and gained valuable experience in advocacy, collaboration, problem-solving, and representing the interests of others.

Her commitment to leadership and human rights led to her becoming a Human Rights Ambassador at the Free State Centre for Human Rights in 2026 and was also elected as the Executive Committee Chairperson, a role in which she continues to learn, grow, serve, and contribute towards creating an impactful and inclusive student community.
