

BIOGRAPHY – MR LINDANI MHLANGA

Lindani holds a BA (Law), LLB, and LLM degrees with all qualifications attained during his time at the University of Pretoria. Lindani joins the Centre as a doctoral candidate with a research focus on constitutional property rights. In his ongoing doctoral research, Lindani looks into the development of a novel claim of an unlawful occupier to remain on property belonging to another in instances where a court of law has held that evicting such an occupier would be unjust and inequitable.

Lindani's research continues to push the boundaries, bringing to the fore an in-depth appreciation of the complexities that lay at the intersection of private law, constitutional law and land law, an attribute which is going to hold him in good stead in the years to come.
