Professor Johan Henning
Dean, Faculty of Law
University of the Free State
Bloemfontein
South Africa

Dear Professor Henning,

It has come to my notice that the University of the Free State has recently celebrated its one hundredth anniversary. This is a significant milestone, particularly given the enormous changes that have affected South Africa during the last century, during which time the University of the Free State has developed a major international reputation and emerged as a significant academic player in many areas of teaching and research. Indeed many see it as having a reasonable claim to being the pre-eminent University on the African continent.

I wish you all the best for the future.

Yours sincerely,

Andrew Haynes
