ABOUT THE UFS

BLOEMFONTEIN, QWAQWA, AND SOUTH CAMPUSES

The University of the Free State (UFS) has a proud history as one of the oldest institutions of higher education in South Africa. It opened its doors in Bloemfontein in 1904 as the Grey University College, with six students in The Humanities. Today it is a multi-campus institution, with two diverse campuses in Bloemfontein and one in Qwaqwa in the scenic Eastern Free State, accommodating more than 39 000 students in its seven faculties (Economic and Management Sciences, Education, Health Sciences, The Humanities, Law, Natural and Agricultural Sciences, Theology and Religion), with a significant number of international students and associates, and an ever-widening scope of active involvement in and contribution to its surrounding communities.

For the past 121 years, the UFS has been delivering quality graduates who have made their mark in various sectors. What sets the institution apart is its holistic student support initiatives, enabling it to achieve some of the highest success rates in the country. Delivering students who are in high demand in the global job market remains a top priority. An established network of industry partners and close collaboration with the public and private sectors, as well as a continuous process of transformation and curriculum renewal, dovetail to produce highly employable graduates.

The UFS' research efforts are driven by dedicated scholars, some of whom are international leaders in their fields, with industry and social impact and real-world application.

Through the principle of engaged scholarship, the university responds to societal needs by using its scholarly and professional expertise with an intentional public purpose and benefit.

The UFS is an institution that goes all out to provide its students and staff with an outstanding university experience. Everything the institution does is rooted in its values of excellence, innovation and impact, accountability, care, social justice, and sustainability.

The university aspires to be a research-led, student-centred, and regionally engaged university that contributes to development and social justice through the production of globally competitive graduates and knowledge. Our Vision 130 is an elaboration of our strategic intent to reposition the university for 2034, when we will commemorate our 130th anniversary.

Inspiring excellence, transforming lives through quality, impact, and care.

MAKHABANE ALEC MOPELI

GUEST SPEAKER

Originally from Qwaqwa, Makhabane Alec Mopeli began his professional and educational journey in manufacturing and health care. After completing matric in 1989, he spent five years working as a general worker in various factories, gaining first-hand experience in the realities of the labour market. Determined to further his education, he enrolled at the Manapo School of Nursing, where he successfully completed his nursing qualification and worked as a nurse for six years.

In 2001, Mopeli transitioned from nursing to an administrative role, accepting a senior administrative position. His capabilities were soon recognised, leading to his appointment as Assistant Manager. However, his ambition did not stop there – he continued to further his education, obtaining a Bachelor of Administration (BAdmin) degree from the University of the Free State (UFS) Qwaqwa Campus. His academic pursuits continued at the University of South Africa (UNISA), where he earned both a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) and a Master of Laws (LLM).

Mopeli's career in public service advanced steadily. In 2004, he was promoted to Deputy Director within the Free State Provincial Government. His expertise in labour relations led to his appointment as Director: Labour Relations in the National Department of Tourism in 2012. He later transferred back to the Free State Provincial Government, where he worked until resigning from public service to establish his own law firm.

Today, he is an admitted and practising attorney, conveyancer, and notary public of the High Court of South Africa, as well as an admitted advocate of the courts of Lesotho.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

MAWIRE, Primrose Rufaro

Primrose Rufaro Mawire (a married mother of one) was born in Zimbabwe on the 5th of April 1979. She completed her high school education at Zimuto and Mutendi High Schools in Masvingo Province. She graduated with a BA Hons (English and Communication) and MA (African and Diasporan Literature) from Midlands State University (Zimbabwe). She currently serves as a lecturer at the same university's Communication Skills Centre, a position she has held since 2009.

With her thesis titled: EMERGING FROM CRISIS: REPRESENTATION OF CHILDHOOD IDENTITIES FROM SELECTED ZIMBABWEAN SHORT STORIES OF THE THIRD CHIMURENGA ERA, the candidate contributes to the growing body of scholarship on the after-effects of the post-2000 crisis [crises] in Zimbabwe. The central epistemological concern of this thesis is the emerging childhood identities as consequence of Zimbabwe's controversial and contested land reform programme, otherwise known as the Third Chimurenga. The thesis focuses on imagined or literary childhoods as represented in selected short stories told from the perspective of child narrators, thus making the case that children and the short story genre have been under-represented in academic scholarship about the literature that has emerged from Zimbabwe post-2000.

Supervisor: Dr KM Ngara

Co-Supervisor: Prof I Manase

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY WITH SPECIALISATION IN ENGLISH

FINGSON, Kundai Watson

Kundai Watson Fingson is a BA Hons (English) and MA (English) graduate of the University of Zimbabwe. He served as a contract lecturer at the same university for a number of years after completing his Masters. Dr Fingson, a married father of one son, first enrolled for PhD studies in the English Department of the University of the Free State, Qwaqwa Campus in February of 2022. During the period of his studies he also served in the role of Junior Lecturer and Learning Facilitator in the department where he assisted with the language modules for teachers in training.

With his thesis titled, COSMOLOGIES OF MADNESS: EXPLORING REPRESENTATIONS OF MADNESS IN CONTEMPORARY AFRICAN LITERARY AND CULTURAL TEXTS, the candidate contributes to the budding scholarship on African and non-western approaches to psychology and mental well-being. The central epistemological concern of this thesis is the marginality of African epistemologies and the privileging of Western models in the analysis of African literary texts which have madness as their central theme. This is in keeping with the thesis' characterization of the literary and cultural texts as enabling the reclamation of "spaces for the visibility of African and postcolonial bodies by reimagining their cosmologies to articulate contemporary African sociopolitical realities and possible solutions". Relying mainly on the literary method of close reading and the application of relevant theories and concepts, the candidate explores depictions of madness in seven recent African literary and filmic texts in an attempt to recentre marginalised African cosmology.

Supervisor: Dr KM Ngara

Co-Supervisor: Prof O Nyambi

MOOPI, Peter

Peter Moopi, born and raised in Rustenburg in the Northwest Province, matriculated at Kwenatlase High School and studied for a Diploma in Marketing at Tshwane TVET College. He later studied here at the UFS, Qwaqwa campus, from 2016, for a Bachelor of Arts Degree majoring in English, Business Management and Psychology, a Bachelor of Arts Honours in English, Master of Arts with specialisation in English, and the current Doctor of Philosophy with specialisation in English. He has worked as an Online Tutor at the Centre of Teaching and Learning, and as a Learning Facilitator in the Department of English, where he is currently working as a Lecturer of English Studies.

With his thesis titled: APPROACHES TO, AND REPRESENTATIONS OF, THE DECOLONIAL QUESTION: A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF SELECTED SOUTH AFRICAN AND ZIMBABWEAN LITERARY TEXTS, the candidate contributes to scholarship on African decoloniality and nation-building agendas in former colonised nations. The thesis explores, drawing mainly on the decoloniality theoretical framework, how selected South African and Zimbabwean texts depict the nature of and complexities evident in the imaginaries of the decolonial question. The study considers on the one hand, how selected South African texts treat issues that include access to education and economic empowerment, the persistence of economic inequalities, migration and the reconfiguration of democratic and “rainbowist” agenda within a schema of the challenges defining the imaginings of the nation in relation to decoloniality. It considers, on the other hand, the Zimbabwean texts’ focus on the land issue, the anti-Euro-American agenda and radical economic empowerment campaign, nationalist governance and shifting political transformation to discern the imaginaries of de-Westernisation and Africanisation and the associated paradoxes such as the entrenchment of violence and repressive governance and economic crises. The thesis makes a significant contribution to scholarship on prevailing modes of understanding the intricate dynamics of evolving strands of decoloniality in southern Africa, especially in the context of emerging discourses of radical economic transformation in South Africa and the black nationalist and Pan-Africanist anti-imperialism and the struggle for land and resources that emerged in Zimbabwe post-2000.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY WITH SPECIALISATION IN SOCIOLOGY

SOKO, Mavis

Mavis Soko was born on 7 July 1977 in Goromonzi District, Zimbabwe. She matriculated at Chabwino Secondary School in 1994. She obtained diplomas in Secretarial Studies (1996) and Industrial Relations (2006) from Ranche House College and the University of Zimbabwe (UZ) respectively. Mavis further received a BSc Hons in Psychology (2010) from the Women’s University in Africa and an MSc in Population Studies (2013) from UZ. She began her career as an administrator at UZ in 2002, rising to Faculty Administrator in 2022. Mavis began her career as an academic in 2023 and continues to lecture at UZ and the Zimbabwe National Defence University.

With her thesis titled: ETHNIC AND GENDERED IMPLICATIONS OF SEXUALITY AND SEXUAL RIGHTS: PROSPECTS FOR AN ETHNIC-SPECIFIC INTERVENTION AMONG KARANGA AND ZEZURU WOMEN IN ZIMBABWE, the candidate contributes to scholarship on sexual rights (SR) by exploring the intersectionality of gender and ethnicity in understanding sexual rights and autonomy among women in Zimbabwe's rural communities. Using a mixed-methods approach, the study surveyed 450 respondents and conducted interviews with community leaders and health workers to explore how persistent patriarchal norms and harmful cultural practices limit women's access to sexual rights. Findings reveal significant knowledge gaps on SR, reinforcing the need for culturally sensitive interventions. The study argues that the intersectionality of gender and ethnicity is essential in shaping effective SR policies and programs, highlighting the importance of community-driven engagement in advancing sexual rights among the Karanga and Zezuru women.
