

INVITATION

Chers cinéphiles / liewe fliekvriende / dear film friends

For our very last film of the year, and the last one Prof Morgan will be presenting as head of the French Section, we have chosen a film which incarnates what many of us associate with France: haute cuisine, fine dining. You may recall that even in the unforgettable Danish film, Babette's Feast, the chef was also French (and a woman, as in this film).

In Le goût des choses, also called La passion de Dodin Bouffant, the first 20 minutes have almost no dialogue – we witness in close-up the preparations for yet another memorable meal.

Maar hoewel dit in die eerste plek 'n film oor die urelange voorbereiding van Franse kos is, is dit in feite 'n liefdesverhaal wat in 1889 uitspeel in die kombuis van 'n ou Franse herehuis op die platteland. Die regisseur is nie 'n Fransman nie, maar 'n Vietnamees, Trần Anh Hùng, wat hier die uitruil van resepte uitbeeld as 'n gelukkige verhouding tussen die ongetroude, middeljarige paartjie, Eugénie (Juliette Binoche) en Dodin (Benoît Magimel).

Come and enjoy a wonderfully lavish film about the pleasures of the palate, and get into the mood of the festive season, while celebrating with the French Section another extraordinary film in a long line of wonderful films since Prof Morgan started the French Film Club more than 30 years ago.
