- Application reference number

1. Introduction

- This Application and Funding Guide provides an overview of the application process and funding guidelines for the Call for Extension Support for master's and doctoral scholarships for the 2027 academic year.
- This document should be read in conjunction with the DSI-NRF Postgraduate Student Application and Funding Framework for Funding in 2027 Academic Year (accessible on the NRF website under call documents). The framework document provides detailed information with respect to objectives of each funding opportunity, eligibility criteria, etc. This document does not, however, constitute a complete set of policies, procedures or systems used by the NRF.
- The NRF funding model is guided by principles of equity and redress, academic merit, and financial need. Funding is awarded under two modalities, namely Full Cost of Study (FCS) and Partial Cost of Study (PCS), in line with the outcomes of the financial means test and available budget.

2. Application Process

- The Call for Extension Support for master's and doctoral scholarships for full-time studies in 2027 is published on the NRF website.
- The application form is accessible online at <https://nrfconnect.nrf.ac.za>
- Applicants may only submit ONE application.
- Once the applicant submits an application, the application will automatically be routed to the institution where the applicant is applying to study.
- The applications will be screened for eligibility, reviewed, and scored by the institutions.
- Applications that meet the scholarship requirements will be submitted to the NRF by the institution.
- All applications are processed by an NRF Designated Authority (DA) based at the University Research/Postgraduate Office. Should a DA contact you regarding your application before your application is submitted to the NRF, please make sure you respond as soon as possible or within the timeline given in the communication. Failure to do so may result in your application being rejected at the institutional-review stage.
- Since funding decisions are based on academic merit, financial need, and national transformation priorities. Institutional recommendation does not guarantee funding, and the NRF reserves the right not to fund all recommended applications due to budget limitations.

3. How to Submit an Application

- The Extension Support scholarship application is available on the NRF Connect System at <https://nrfconnect.nrf.ac.za>.
- Applicants are advised to complete their applications soon after the Call opens, to prevent IT system overload, which may occur close to the cut-off dates.
- Applicants must ensure that all sections of the application are fully completed and that all required supporting documents are uploaded at the time of submission. Incomplete or non-compliant applications will not be considered.

Sections related specifically to Extension Support for Masters and Doctoral Scholarships application template.

Step 16: Application Category - Extension Support

- The Application Category section is a very important section as the applicant is required to select the level of study to be funded for and the required duration of support.
- Only full-time applicants can apply for extension support.
- Note that extensions will only be granted under exceptional circumstances and will be for either six (6) or twelve (12) months.

The screenshot shows a form titled "Application Category - Extension Support". It contains three main input fields: "Are you/will you be registered as a full-time student? *" with a radio button, "Type of scholarship *" with a dropdown arrow, and "Extension requested for *" with a dropdown arrow. At the bottom right, there are two buttons: "CANCEL" and "SAVE".

Step 17: Details of Extension

- The Details of Extension section requires the applicants to indicate which institution they will be registered with.
- The fields "application/grant reference number" and "value of grant" are not editable as information is pulled directly from the system. If the applicant is an NRF grantholder in 2026, the grant details will pull into this section. If your grant details do not pull into the section, it means that the NRF system does not recognise you as a grantholder. Please email the NRF for assistance.
- NB: Block grant and grantholder-linked students who were previously nominated under the block grant or their researcher's grant, will have to be nominated again on the system in 2026 for their information to pull through.
- For applicants funded under the PDP programme, the applicant's institution must be the university you will be registered with (not the Science Council or Research facility).

The screenshot shows a form titled "Details of Extension". It contains several input fields: "Application/grant reference number", "Value of grant", "Application's proposed institution *" with a dropdown arrow, "Date of first registration for the degree" with a calendar icon, "Student number (if currently registered at a university)", "Discipline" with a dropdown arrow, "Faculty (of degree to be funded)" with a dropdown arrow, and "Department/School (of degree to be funded)" with a dropdown arrow. At the bottom right, there are two buttons: "CANCEL" and "SAVE".

Step 18: Original Problem Statement and Research Plan

The Original Problem Statement and the Original Research Plan sections are compulsory sections because the reviewer might not have the applicant's original application, therefore, the information is very important to determine what was originally proposed prior to the progress to date.

Step 19: Progress to Date

The Progress to Date section requires applicants to indicate the work done thus far under the Research Project.

The screenshot shows a web form titled "Progress to date". It features a rich text editor with a toolbar containing icons for bold, italic, underline, link, unlink, and undo. The text area contains the placeholder text "Progress to date". Below the text area is a character count showing "0 characters". At the bottom right, there are "CANCEL" and "SAVE" buttons, along with a "Rectangular Step" button.

Step 20: Reasons why the study could not be completed

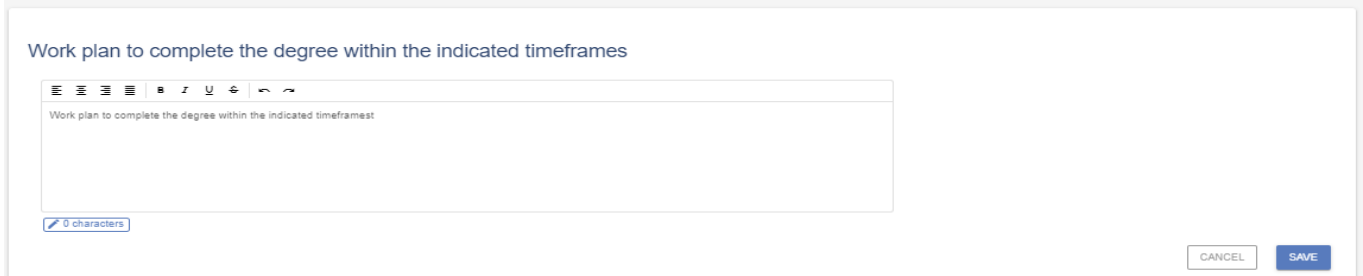

This section requires an explanation as to why the study could not be completed within the NRF grant period.

The screenshot shows a web form titled "Reasons why the study could not be completed in the NRF maximum funding period". It features a rich text editor with a toolbar containing icons for bold, italic, underline, link, unlink, and undo. The text area contains the placeholder text "Reasons why the study could not be completed in the NRF maximum funding period". Below the text area is a character count showing "0 characters". At the bottom right, there are "CANCEL" and "SAVE" buttons.

Step 21: Work Plan

The Work plan to complete the degree within the indicated timeframes section requires the applicant to provide a work plan to complete the degree within the requested (6 or 12 months) extension period. Clear timelines of activities to take place during the period of extension should be provided.

5. Screening Processes

5.1 Overview of the Screening Process

All submitted applications validated and reviewed by South African public institutions and submitted to the NRF, are further screened by the NRF for compliance with the eligibility criteria and requirements of the call for applications. Applications that fail to meet the stipulated requirements will be rejected.

6. Applications Feedback and Disputes

Once the assessment processes have been completed and the recommended funding decision has been approved by the NRF, the NRF will publish a list of successful applicants on the NRF website at www.nrf.ac.za/bursaries/calls. The application status online will indicate whether or not the application has been approved for funding. If your name does not appear on the published list of successful applications, it means that your application was unsuccessful.

The Promotion of Administrative Justice Act (Act 3 of 2000) give effect to the right to administrative action that is lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair and to the right to written reasons for administrative action as contemplated in section 33 of the constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996. The NRF and the universities are expected to provide feedback to all applicants on the status of their application.

Feedback from the University:

- Universities must provide feedback to applicants who were screened at the universities for eligibility and deemed not eligible for funding.
- Universities must provide feedback to applicants who were reviewed at the universities and were recommended not eligible for funding by the panel of reviewers.

Feedback from the NRF

- The NRF must provide feedback to applicants whose applications were recommended for funding but were not awarded funding due to budget constraints. In this instance, the NRF will send a regret letter directly to the affected applicants.
- The NRF must provide feedback to applicants whose applications were recommended for funding and approved for funding. In this instance, the NRF will publish a list of the successful applicants on the NRF website and share the list with the Research/Postgraduate Offices at respective universities.

The NRF will conduct an Appeals Process two (2) months after the official publication date of the results on the NRF website. Eligibility to appeal is limited to applicants who either were not recommended by the institutional review panel or encountered a system issue during their NRF application submission, in which case they must also demonstrate they contacted the NRF for assistance well in advance and could not be helped before the call closed. . An appeal must be justified with proof (e.g., email correspondence with the NRF for system related issues), and must be supported by the supervisor in order to be considered.

Note: Awarding of successful appeals will be contingent on the availability of the budget. Therefore, a successful appeal does not automatically constitute an award.

7. Scientific Compliance

7.1 Methodology

The student takes scientific responsibility for the research to be undertaken, including its objectives and the methodology outlined in the project proposal. The student is required to devote the necessary time to the research project in compliance with the work-plan for the research proposal approved by the NRF so as to achieve the project's stated aims and objectives.

7.2 Intellectual Property Rights

The intellectual capital generated by NRF funded research must be appropriately protected and exploited for the benefit of South Africa. This condition should not interfere with the Intellectual Property Rights arrangements already made, on condition that the majority of the benefits arising from the intellectual capital accrue to South Africa and its citizens. This condition is aligned with the Intellectual Property Rights Act, 1 which will override this condition of grant.
