Resources for uploading an NIH grant application

The National Institute of Health (NIH) provides helpful resources to guide applicants through the grant submission process. These include:

1. A step by step video guide. Watch this user-friendly video: Eight Steps to submitting a National Institute of Health (NIH) grant application using ASSIST
2. Samples of successful applications and documents. Access examples of successful applications and supporting documents here