

Biography: Mokamoso Morema

I was born in a small town called Bochum in Polokwane, Limpopo. I then attended my primary school years at Dendron primary school until I moved to a small village called Uitkyk no 1. I completed my matric at Madikweng secondary in 2020. I can't really say I had a great upbringing but I'm mom did what she got to do to make me look like the kids next door. And I'll forever appreciate that. My dad died when I was six, and I never got a chance to see his face. I love taking pictures with all my heart and I can't go a day without taking any as long as I'm exposed to Africa's beautiful environment. I'm studying Actuarial Sciences, and I can't wait to secure the bag so that I make the world we live in a better place. I was starting with having my brand and being a qualified actuary. Building nursing homes around the Uitkyk and taking people off the streets are things that are definitely on my bucket list.
