LIBRARY USER GUIDE Orientation

The UFS Library and Information Services forms an integral part of the University and shares in the quest for excellence. We are proud to introduce to you a library and information service that not only provides in the basic needs of a user, but one that operates in a highly technological environment. The UFS Library and Information Services offer you the opportunities, information resources and facilities that are essential to your academic success access to AI tools and resources can further marginalize individuals and communities, deepening existing inequalities.
